October Meeting changed to the end of September (Thursday, September 29,) and A&A

● This is an early announcement that the League meeting for October will be changed to the last Thursday of September – September 29, 7-9 pm. We will meet in the Museum within the Judy Chicago exhibition for a panel discussion titled Changing Perspectives: Judy Chicago's Birth Project. The panel is unusual in that, besides the inclusion of a fabric artist as well as an art historian, two sociologists and a nurse midwife will address the artwork on display.

A&A applications for the Fair are not due at the September 29 meeting but can be handed in nonetheless. The application deadline is Tuesday October 4. Applications must be hand-delivered or mailed to the Museum to arrive that day (Tues, Oct. 4) before closing at 4:00 pm. Questions about the A&A Fair? Call Viki D. Thompson Wylder (contact info above) or Mary Liz Moody (contact info on back of flyer).

Quotation from The War of Art
By Steven Pressfield

.RESISTANCE AND FEAR

"Fear is good. Like self-doubt, fear is an indicator. Fear tells us what we have to do.

Remember our rule...The more scared we are of a work or calling, the more sure we can be that we have to do it.

Resistance is experienced as fear; the degree of fear equates to the strength of resistance. Therefore the more fear we feel about a specific enterprise, the more certain we can be that that enterprise is important to us and to the growth of our soul. That's why we feel so much Resistance. If it meant nothing to us, there'd be no Resistance.

...The professional tackles the project that will make him stretch. He takes on the assignment that will bear him into uncharted waters, compel him to explore unconscious parts of himself.

Is he scared? Hell, yes. He's petrified."
...So if you're paralyzed with fear, it's a good sign. It shows. You do what you have to do."
